Come Inside

With three caregivers for eight residents, our staff-to-resident ratios lead the industry and enable caregivers to focus on personal interactions and relationships.

Professional staff includes two full-time registered nurses and music, art and recreational therapists, all of whom actively contribute to the wellness of each resident and family.

Our Home

We are proud to present the first assisted living home in the Washington area developed by Metropolitan Washington Orthodox Senior Housing (MWOSH). Our mission is to provide quality personalized care in a warm and safe environment that will nourish the body, mind and soul.

Professionally managed by Larmax Homes, our philosophy uses a holistic approach to care, bringing together the family and our entire team to promote wellness and share information. Families have direct access to nursing, therapeutic and care professional staff.

MWOSH's beautiful new home, neighboring St. George Greek Orthodox Church, is designed for residents to thrive and maintain dignity while fostering independence.

It is purposefully designed with an open floor plan, vibrant materials and comfortable furnishings to promote safety and belonging in the warm, secure context of home.

- Private bedrooms with a private bath
- Delicious home cooked meals
- Large common areas for engaging activities
- Screened in porch perfect for visiting with family and friends

Innovative, evidence based engagement programs such as music and equestrian therapy contribute to an individual's enjoyment as well as their physical and emotional health.
